25X1 [redacted] 27. [redacted] Talked with Robert Crandall, Counsel, House Internal Security Committee, and indicated to him our desire to be cooperative in the Committee's inquiry into international terrorism. I said we would prefer to confine our appearance to executive session and to those substantive matters that were within the unique capabilities of the Agency. I also suggested it might be useful if our people sat down and talked with him and his staff in advance to see what their areas of interest were and the kind of information we might be able to provide. Crandall said he thought this was a good idea but also asked if we would consider sanitizing the executive session transcript for possible later release. I told him we would consider this, although it posed some problem for us, and I could not guarantee that aspect of the arrangement at this point in time. I told him [redacted] would be in touch with him for further follow up.

25X1 29. [redacted] Talked with Wilkey Donelson, OMB, and told him I had cleared with Ed Braswell, Senate Armed Services Committee staff, Carl Duckett's briefing of Senators Frank E. Moss (D., Utah) and Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.) of the Senate Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee. I said this would have to be done in a "one on two" briefing with no outsiders present and without reference to the civil uses proposals in view of the concern that Senator John C. Stennis (D., Miss.) (and Representative George H. Mahon (D., Tex.) have on this subject. Donelson said he would talk with his people and be back in touch with me.
